7. Finding and getting money

7.4.11 Funding for community buildings

Introduction

Fundraising for the building or refurbishment of a community building is a big challenge. It can take anything between two and five years, or even longer, from the initial plans through to getting the funding and starting construction. You may need to invest a great deal of time, energy and some funds in the project before you know whether you can raise the cash needed. Therefore, you need to be sure that there is a clear need for the building and that the community has access to it.

Finding funding for your community building, village hall or community centre can seem a very complex task with such a vast number of statutory and non-statutory grant giving bodies working at a European, national, regional and local level.

With this in mind, this information sheet includes the most obvious funders who at best give priority to community buildings or at least give consideration to community buildings' needs. This information sheet should be used as a general guide only. You should always try to contact the appropriate trust for more detailed information before applying.

Remember there may also be local sources of funding available, which are not mentioned in this information sheet.

Once you have a specific need or project in mind we suggest you visit your local county voluntary council which will hold detailed information on grants, including any local funds.

Awards for All Wales

This BIG Lottery Fund programme aims to fund projects which involve people in their local community, bringing them together to take part in and enjoy a wide range of heritage, charitable, health, educational, environmental and other community activities. Grants of between £500 and £5,000 are available.

BIG will fund projects that can be completed in 12 months to meet one or more of the following aims:

- Support community activity.
- Extend access and participation.
- Increase skills and creativity.
- Improve the quality of life.

A range of organisations can apply. They must be:

- A not-for-profit group with a governing document such as a constitution, a bank or building society account and a set of accounts.
- A community or town council.
- School.
- Health body.

No closing date has yet been set for this programme.

CADW

Grants for Historic Buildings

Cadw is an executive agency of the Welsh Assembly Government. It is responsible for protecting, conserving and promoting an appreciation of Wales' built heritage.

Historic Buildings Grant is given to assist the repair and restoration of buildings or structures of outstanding historic or architectural interest.

Conservation Area Grant is given for external works to buildings in conservation areas where the works proposed are judged to significantly preserve or enhance the conservation Area in which the building or structure in question is situated. Only work to the historic fabric of a building is eligible for grant support. Applications for routine maintenance or for rewiring/security measures for example, will not be considered.

Civic Initiatives (Heritage) Grants -

Grants are given for projects, which will preserve, enhance or improve the physical environment in Welsh towns, and increase social awareness of the built heritage in Wales. The scheme is aimed at civic societies and other voluntary groups. This is a wide-ranging scheme aimed at projects that contribute to awareness of built heritage and promote its appreciation e.g., exhibitions, publication of educational material and physical work to assist in the presentation, interpretation and appreciation of historic structures (e.g. adding plaques).

Rural Regeneration Grant Scheme

Cadw can offer a grant towards repairing a building in the countryside in order to make it suitable for a previous use or convert it for a new use.

The building must be

- listed
- 'at risk'
- in the countryside or a village of 500 inhabitants or less.

The grant is available to trusts, charities, public bodies, individuals, or businesses (but there are conditions if the building is sold within ten years).

This scheme is for buildings of any type, including agricultural, industrial, religious, domestic, and commercial.

Esmée Fairbairn Foundation

Esmée Fairbairn is one of the largest independent grant making foundations in the UK. The Foundation makes grants to organisations that aim to improve the quality of life for people and communities in the UK, both now and in the future. Grants are made through two routes:

- Main Fund
- Strands

The Foundation invites applications from registered charities or groups with charitable purposes. There are no deadlines for applying.

Charles Hayward Foundation

The foundation runs a number of grant making programmes, which include one for medical research, a community grants programme and a programme for the elderly.

Funding is also available for capital cost of buildings, extension, adaptations, equipment, and furnishings.

Grants vary in size from £1,000 to £20,000. Occasionally, trustees may make larger grants to fund projects of an exceptional nature, which show outstanding potential.

All applications will receive a reply, but there may be some delay as the trustees meet only four times a year to consider applications.

The LankellyChase Foundation

Grants of between £1,000 and £40,000 are available to projects. The Foundation funds projects in the following broad areas: arts, breaking the cycle of abuse and deprivation, developing communities, heritage, mental health and offenders and society. In addition, there is a limited programme of support for organisations working with refugees and asylum seekers. Priority is given to smaller charities, many of whom have only a local or regional remit. Support for large national charities is limited.

Specific programmes relating to community buildings include:

Heritage

Rural parish churches – Grade 1 Listed Buildings located in a village with a population of less than 1,000 people. Capital grants to a maximum of £3,000.

Almshouses – priority will be given to applications in rural areas that are of architectural merit and historical interest, providing accommodation to older people who are in housing or financial need. Capital grants to a maximum of £5,000.

Historic buildings – applications from organisations managing buildings of architectural merit and historic interest that are used by and accessible to the community. Buildings in rural areas will be given priority. Capital grants to a maximum of £10,000.

Developing communities

Applications are invited from organisations that assist the process of building a more inclusive society provide a range of activities that are:

- Community controlled and managed.
- Responsive to the needs of all sections of their community.
- Working in partnership with other voluntary and statutory agencies to tackle the needs of their community in a holistic way.
- Seeking to develop sustainable funding strategies to enable them to participate in the long-term development of their community providing opportunities for all to fulfil their potential.
- Seeking to create new employment opportunities that generate real wealth within communities.

Capital grants of up to £50,000 are available to help acquire an asset, adapt existing assets (building) and purchase equipment.

Applicants seeking capital grants must demonstrate the organisation's ability to generate long-term income from the acquisition of the asset or equipment.

Garfield Weston Foundation

The Garfield Weston Foundation has helped a wide range of organisations with grants of varying sizes. Previous rounds of funding have helped projects in the following categories: Arts, Community, Education, Welfare, Medical, Social, Religion, Youth and Environment. This foundation makes grants for amounts anywhere between £3,000 and £1 million. Awards are regularly made in almost all fields except overseas aid and animal welfare. Probably more than 85% of the money, and an even higher proportion for the largest grants, are for capital or endowment projects.

J Paul Getty Jr Charitable Trust

The trust aims to fund projects to alleviate poverty and misery in general, and unpopular cases in particular, within the UK. The emphasis is on self-help and enabling people to reach their potential. The trustees favour small community and local projects, which make good use of volunteers. There are four main beneficial areas:

- Social welfare
- Therapeutic use of the arts

- Conservation (including buildings)
- Environment

Grants are usually in the £5,000 to £15,000 range, for both capital and revenue. Some small grants of up to £2,000 are also made in between the quarterly trustee meetings. Priority is likely to be given to projects in the less prosperous parts of the country, particularly outside London and the South East, and to those which cover more than one beneficial area.

The Heritage Lottery Fund

This fund covers the whole of the UK. Those eligible to apply are public, charitable or non-profit distributing bodies established in the UK with preservation or conservation of the heritage as one of their purposes.

Money will be available to secure, conserve and improve assets of existing national, regional and local heritage importance. The following areas of heritage are covered: ancient monuments, historic buildings and their contents; landscapes of scenic, scientific or historic importance; special library collections, manuscripts, archives and other records, museums and galleries collections; and industrial, transport and maritime history.

Parks for People (£250,000 to £5 million)

This three-year joint initiative between Heritage Lottery Fund and the Big Lottery Fund helps with the restoration and regeneration of public parks and gardens, including squares, walks and promenades.

Repair Grants for Places of Worship (£10,000 to £100,000 in Wales)

This programme is designed to help conserve and sustain heritage at risk, through urgent repairs to places of worship.

Townscape Heritage Initiative (£250,000 to £2 million)

Grants that help communities to regenerate historic parts of their towns and cities. The programme is designed to address problems in areas of particular social and economic need through the United Kingdom. It encourages partnerships to carry out repairs and other works to a number of historic properties within those areas, and improve the quality of life for all those who live, work or visit there.

The Laing Family Foundations

There is an evangelical Christian background to the group, but collectively the grants lists cover most fields of welfare and health as well as the promotion of Christianity, at home and overseas. Support for medical research, of the scientific sort is limited, and there is no general support for the arts. Over 1,000 grants a year are made, though many of them are small, very large grants can also be made. Most of the grants are for national organisations, big or small, with only limited support for local organisations or local branches of the larger networks.

An application for a grant towards a specific capital project should be in the form of short letter giving details of the project, its total cost, the amount raised and some indication of how it is financed.

Landfill Community Fund

Under recent legislation, a landfill tax has been imposed on site owners, part of which should be used to the benefit of the surrounding environment and communities within a specified radius of the site. If you have a site and think you have a suitable project, you have to register as an environmental body.

ENTRUST will assess your project and if it meets the relevant criteria, they will issue your project with documentation allowing you to claim the required amount from the landfill operator near you. Application forms and guidance notes are available from ENTRUST. There are examples of community buildings receiving funding for building and activity projects.

Manifold Trust

The Trust supports the preservation of culturally important activities and buildings. Areas covered include: churches; arts and education; the environment and social causes. Most grants are between £500 and £5,000 but larger grants are also given. All applicants must be registered charitable status. General enquiries and applications for grants should be made in writing only.

Onyx Environmental Trust (The Veolia Environmental Trust)

The scheme aims to promote sustainable waste management practices and benefit local communities in the vicinity of a landfill site. Projects must fall into one of the following four categories (also outlined as 'objects' in the Landfill Tax Regulations 1996 and 1999):

- Remediation and restoration of contaminated land.
- Prevention and removal of pollution, for example, on Brownfield land.
- Provision, improvements and maintenance of parks and public amenities.
- Repair, restoration and maintenance of churches or buildings of historical or architectural interest. Churches must be open to the public for religious worship and other buildings must also fulfil public access requirements. Examples of projects include improvements to church interiors, restoration of a village hall or renovation of a listed building.

There is no minimum or maximum level of funding and the Trust may fund small local projects or larger long-term projects. The exact level of funding will depend on the individual projects.

Applications may be submitted at any time as the Trust Board and Regional Panels meet regularly.

People and Places (Big Lottery Fund)

People and Places aims to bring people together to make their communities stronger and to improve their rural and urban environments. £66 million will be available through the programme between 2005-2009, which will support people working together to make their communities better places to live. It will support local and regional projects and projects that work throughout Wales. People and Places can fund projects that revitalise communities, improve community relations and enhance local environments and community amenities. This programme will be open to the community, voluntary and public sector. Money will be available for capital and revenue projects and can be used for the development of communities or communities of interest.

Sports Council for Wales

The Sports Council for Wales is the national organisation responsible for developing and promoting sport and recreation. The Sports Council for Wales operates a number of funding schemes that aim to increase participation and improve performance in Welsh sport.

Facility development

The lottery funded capital scheme is used to improve the facility base at both a local and national level. Supporting and underpinning development work, capital funding is used strategically to support the development of sport and physical activity primarily in areas of greatest need. The fundamental principles underpinning the distribution of money for capital projects at a local level have been to ensure:

- Lasting and maximum sport and community development benefit.
- Value for money.
- Benefits for the areas and projects identified as having the greatest recreational, sporting and financial need.

Projects of £12,500 or more involving capital building and construction, playing areas, purchase of land or rights in land, and/or the purchase of capital equipment.

Viridor Credits Environmental Company

Viridor Credits aims to provide environmental and social benefits for local communities across the United Kingdom.

Project priorities

- promote community participation and partnership approaches
- support environmentally friendly projects

NB. Special consideration will be given to projects which have spin-offs in more than one category

Eligible projects

- the reclamation of land
- the reduction or prevention of pollution to land
- the provision, maintenance or improvement of public amenities and parks
- the maintenance, repair or restoration of a building, which is of historic or architectural interest

The grants are for capital and certain revenue expenditure of the project. Applicants will normally be expected to secure 10% funding from a contributing third party, payable to Viridor Waste Management to release their landfill tax credits.

The Wolfson Foundation

Grants are for buildings and equipment, but not for revenue or project costs, in three major areas:

- medical research and health care
- science, technology and education
- arts and humanities

Grants can be very large and few are for amounts of less than £5,000.

The trustees make grants for:

- Capital projects, towards the cost of a new building or extension, or for renovating existing ones.
- Equipment for specific purposes and/or furnishings and fittings.

The Pilgrim Trust

The trustees' current priorities are:

Preservation

Trustees currently aim to allocate about 60% of annual grants to this area of interest.

Trustees have a special interest in:

- The preservation of historic buildings and architectural features, particularly projects giving a new use to buildings that are of outstanding architectural or historic interest. However, Trustees will only consider the repairs to historic fabric, not the installation of new facilities.
- Conservation of works of art, books, manuscripts, photographs and documents and museum objects.
- Promotion of knowledge through academic research and its dissemination.

Places of worship

(Grants for this area of interest come from the allocation for preservation and scholarship).

- The Trust makes annual block grants for the repair of the fabric of historic churches of any denomination to the Historic Churches Preservation Trust for churches in England and Wales. Applications should therefore be addressed directly to the appropriate body.
- The Trust makes grants for the conservation of historic contents (organs, bells, glass and monuments etc.) and important structures and monuments in church yards for places of worship of all denominations.

Social welfare

The Trust currently aims to allocated about 40% of annual grants to this area of interest.

- Projects that assist and support people involved in alcohol or drug misuse.
- Projects in prisons.
- Projects that seek to inform and develop policy and practice in the priority areas outlined above.

The Trusthouse Charitable Foundation

The Trusthouse Charitable Foundation's objects are such general charitable purposes as the Trustees in their discretion may from time to time determine. The Foundation currently distributes over £2 million each year. The average grant awarded by the Foundation is £6,000.

Types of grants

The Foundation currently makes over 350 grants a year of which the majority are small grants (averaging £6,000). A small number of larger grants (i.e. over £10,000) are awarded each year.

There are currently two overarching themes to their grants:

Rural Issues: they accept applications from local and national charities or not-for-profit organisations which are addressing issues in needy rural areas. 'Rural' in this context means cities, towns, villages and areas with 10,000 or fewer inhabitants. They are interested in, for example, projects providing transport for the elderly, disabled or disadvantaged; contact networks for young disabled people; projects which encourage a sense of community such as community centres and village halls; employment training schemes especially those promoting local, traditional crafts; projects addressing issues such as drug/alcohol misuse or homelessness.

Urban Deprivation: they accept applications from local or national charities or not-for-profit organisations which are working with residents of urban areas (i.e. more than 10,000 inhabitants) which are classified in the latest government Indices of Multiple Deprivation as being in the lowest 20%. They are interested in, for example, youth clubs; training schemes to help people out of unemployment; drop in centres for the homeless.

Your application should clearly demonstrate how your project fits into one or other of these themes.

The Foundation offers grants under three separate schemes:

- Fast track scheme - For applications of £5,000 and below (capital and revenue grants)
- Small Grant Programme (capital and revenue grants) between £5,001 and £9,999
- Large Grant Programme for between £10,000 and £30,000 for capital projects only ((e.g. buildings including new build, renovations, extensions). The total amount of the project must not exceed £1 million.

The Gerald Micklem Charitable Trust

This is a general charitable trust. The trustees have no restrictions on them as to the kinds of project or the areas they can support, and are generally prepared to consider any field. They do not make grants to, or sponsorship arrangements with, individuals or to organisations that are not UK registered charities.

There is no typical grant size, though the trustees make a large number at £2,000 - £3,000. Grants can be recurring or one-off, and for revenue or capital purposes.

The Community Facilities and Activities Programme (CFAP)

This grant scheme is operated by the Welsh Assembly Government to help community and voluntary organisations provide facilities or carry out activities which will promote the regeneration of communities.

The programme is only open to voluntary and community groups. Your organisation must be self-governing, primarily non-business, not profit distributing, and be for public benefit. If you require funding for a building, you must be its legal owners or be able to demonstrate security of tenancy in the long term.

The programme is predominantly a capital build programme. It is intended as a fund for organisations to draw upon to fill remaining gaps in finances after other sources of support have been explored - see the list of principal sources of funds for community and voluntary organisations.

Grants are made under Section 126 of the Housing Grants, Construction & Regeneration Act 1996.

Applications to provide match funding for European grants are considered in the same way as others and are assessed competitively to ensure that the available funds can help the most deserving projects.

What types of projects can be funded?

CFAP can help you provide facilities or carry out activities which will promote the regeneration of communities by tackling the following priorities:

- Creating or refurbishing facilities available to the community as a whole, or adapting them to ensure equal access to disabled people as required under the Disability Discrimination Act 1995.
- Acting to improve the built or natural environment for local people.
- Improving the well-being of the community by encouraging active and healthy life styles.
- Providing facilities or activities which reduce poverty, inequality, discrimination and social disadvantage.
- Encouraging training that targets vulnerable or excluded people.
- Stimulating community businesses and social enterprises.
- Assisting the promotion of job opportunities and increased incomes.
- Involving people of all ages and abilities in the community and addressing the needs of socially excluded groups.
- Strengthening the cultural and linguistic identity of the community.

How much money is available?

Grants may be awarded for a single capital project or to support costs for up to three years. The largest grants are normally £100,000 in any one financial year (1 April to 31 March) or £300,000 in total. Most applications are much smaller than this.

The budget for your project should be accurate and realistic, as grants cannot normally be increased after approval.

Applications to provide match funding for European grants or lottery grants are considered in the same way as others. If you are seeking match funding, therefore, you should still demonstrate that all other appropriate sources have been pursued. You must attach to your application evidence of the support to be given by the principal funding body, or full details if you are awaiting the outcome. You should be as realistic as possible when indicating the timescale of the project.

Are commercial activities eligible for support?

Public funding for organisations carrying out commercial activities, even those with charitable status, is governed by the European Commission's 'state aid' rules. These rules allow grant funding from public sources only if the total received over a rolling three-year period will be below a particular level (currently €100,000, around £65,000). However, projects may be eligible under one of a number of block exemptions, which include grant aid specifically targeted at training or employment creation. Further advice can be obtained from Lisa Clarridge of the Social Justice Policy Unit, on 01685 729307.

Funding for appraisals and feasibility studies

Architectural Heritage Fund

The Architectural Heritage Fund (AHF) is a registered charity founded in 1976 to promote the conservation of historic buildings in the UK. It does this by providing advice, information and financial assistance in the form of grants and low interest working capital loans for projects undertaken by building preservation trusts (BPTs) and other charities throughout the UK.

Options appraisal grants

The AHF offers grants of up to 75% of the cost of an initial options appraisal of a project likely to qualify for an AHF loan. The maximum grant is normally £5,000, but in exceptional circumstances this can be raised to £7,500. In rare cases the AHF may offer grants for options appraisals that examine the feasibility of only one option, but the grant offered will be a maximum of £3,000.

An options appraisal eligible for an AHF grant will look at the key conservation issues affecting the building, examine all options and consider in outline the viability of the most beneficial option. It should also explore all possible sources of funding for the project.

The charity must bring together the findings in conservation and financial terms, implementation strategy and the further work that needs to be carried out to develop the preferred option.

Refundable project development grants

Once the feasibility of a project has been established, the AHF can offer a refundable grant, usually of up to £15,000, for specific professional work (like measured drawings, specifications, costings and conservation or business plans) to help charities develop the project to meet the application requirements of the AHF and other funders. The grant is refundable and is converted into the first instalment of an AHF loan, becoming repayable when the loan is repaid. If an AHF loan is not required, the AHF would still expect the grant to be repaid.
